

I'm tired of writing "Sycloetry," and now I'm going to write some "Syclicisms."

In fact, I'm so busy getting familiar with the stock of Seymour's that I haven't time to write much.

Did you know that there are 187 pairs of shoes, of varying lengths and widths—and of various kinds of leather—made from each shoe design. Then take the different styles (too many for me to count them), it seems as if anybody except a freak could be fitted perfectly.

Somehow, it seems as if the feet of people who wear Edwin Clapp Shoes look better than the feet of people who wear ordinary footgear. Come and fit yourself out.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Norfolk, Va., May 18.—Giving Busby faultless and brilliant support while hitting the ball opportunely in the third, the Tars had little trouble defeating the Colts this afternoon by the score of 5 to 2. It was a clean victory for the Tars, despite the fact that a decision by Harry Mace gave them the fourth run in the third inning.

Both teams put up a remarkably clean game in the field, but the Tars were slow from the morning downpour. Several of the hits on both sides were due to the slowness of the field. The only error made by the Colts didn't figure in the results.

Richmond scored the first run of the game in the second. Wallace, Messitt and Hale united in a brilliant combination, but the fast work of the outfield prevented a score. But Busby walked Shaw, and forced in Wallace. There was two out when the fireworks began, and Baker ended hopes with a fly to center.

In the third, the Tars got busy. Busby slapped the ball hard into the right field, Busby singled. Bonner accepted a wild one by the plate, and the three corners were occupied. Mordock slashed a safety to center, scoring Reggy. Mullaney singled and scored Busch and Bonner. Chandler grounded to short, and Mace called Mordock safe at the plate. It was clearly an up to center. Jackson sent an easy one up to center. Tiedman walked, but Reggy retired the side by ground.

In the fourth, the Tars made the last run of the game. Busby singled, and was sacrificed to second, scoring on Mordock's second single of the game. The score:

BOSTON HITS HARD BUT FAILS TO WIN

Victory of Pittsburgh Nationals Due to Ragged Fielding.

TWO HOME RUNS IN GAME

Curtis Knocked Out of Box and Brown Takes His Place.

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 18.—Boston hit Camnitz hard, but the hits were scattered through the game, and the visitors lost to Pittsburgh again 5 to 3, mainly because of ragged fielding and the fact that Curtis was found for seven hits in the first two innings. Brown, who succeeded him, was more effective. Leach and Brown each knocked the ball over the fence for a home run.

MANY CARS FOR WILLIAM-MARY CAROLINA RUN AN EASY MARK

With only a handful of spectators to see the slaughter, and the rooting so feeble that it could hardly be noticed at any time during the game, Richmond College yesterday cleaned up William and Mary in the race for second place in the eastern division of Virginia colleges, by the score of 7 to 0. William and Mary did not have a look-in for the game from the start, and it was at all times merely a question as to how large the score would be.

William and Mary played as per the rules laid down by the ancient Chinese philosophers and gave Johnson, who was batted freely, rank support. Harris, at second base, managed to pull a score into the counting on his second strike, and each one of them counted for something.

Gill, for Richmond College, opened the game with a three-bagger, and was brought in by Jenkins's single. Then Johnson made them hit till the inning closed. In the second inning two runs were scored, and in the third three came over. The running stopped then until the sixth, when Acree laid out on one to his liking for a third bagger. The third inning was thrown badly to second, and Acree came home. After his arrival there Umpire O'Toole called him out for not touching third in making the circuit.

In the middle of the game the Williamsburgers protested that Umpire O'Toole could not manage both the bases and the ball, and so Howard Holland was called in to assist. The score:

DANVILLE GAME BEST OF SEASON
In Pitchers' Battle Home Club Wins by Score of 1 to 0.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Danville, Va., May 18.—In a beautiful pitchers' battle here this afternoon Danville shut-out Lynchburg by the score of 1 to 0.

The game was probably the prettiest seen here this season. Both pitchers were in fine fettle, and were a bit stingy with the hits. Danville's Morrissey at second, in place of Guss, who was out of the game, and the little mischievous he made did not figure in the results. Learning the shortstop, has improved wonderfully, and will most probably be retained.
